

archbishops, bishops, heads of orders, other high persons and various persons familiar to the papal court.

Presently the door at the rear of the hall was opened, and the Noble Guards, in their brilliant uniforms, appeared, making way for the white-clad figure of His Holiness. Followed by Swiss Guards and his suite, the Pontiff paused for a moment at the threshold, while those present bent the knee. With a smile he greeted them and then walked to the throne. The procession before the throne followed immediately. Each dignitary, according to precedence, approached in turn, and, kneeling, kissed the papal ring. It was a long and tiresome ceremony, which Pope Pius X. bore with great patience. As the last of the number paying homage withdrew the Pontiff and the cardinals were left alone for the duties which had brought them together.

Pius X. broke the silence that followed, voicing a simple prayer, and then, still sitting, delivered a brief allocution.

Year of Mourning.

In this the Pope began by saying that the present year is a year of mourning for the church. All feel that this phrase alluded to the clamorous commemoration of the Italian jubilee, which it is felt offended the rights of the Holy See. Through the manifestations of sectarians (evidently hinting at the Free Masons) hatred to the Catholic faith, the allocation continued, was promoted, thus offending the faithful of the whole world, while the supreme greatness of Italy is thus, which had inspired every civil progress and which alone is the source of peace and lasting prosperity.

The Pope lamented the immunity which was granted to the enemies of religion in Rome, especially the iniquitous body, as he refers to them, which opposed the existence of God and the Christian order.

Pius X. then dealt with the persecution of the church in Portugal by the same body, and expressed the hope that the Portuguese nation, boasting centuries of attachment to the church, would react against her enemy.

The evils of modernism and naturalism were counterbalanced, the Pope continued, everywhere by the love of the Holy Eucharist, as was proved in the congress held in Cologne, London, Montreal and Madrid. Spain, especially, he said, had demonstrated her true religious sentiment. He ended with the hope that God would preserve her from the evil threatening her peace and happiness.

Appointment a Surprise.

The creation of the cardinals and the confirmation by His Holiness of the archbishops and bishops already appointed by brief followed. In all instances the procedure was the same. The name of each chosen for honor was read, the Pope inquiring of the cardinals in turn whether they approved the nomination. Assent was given by raising their red skull caps. A surprise came when it was made known that the Pope had created still another cardinal "in pectore," that is, "in his breast." The identity of the one so honored not being revealed. This makes an addition of nineteen to the cardinalate.

This departure from the known program gave rise to all sorts of rumors, including one that Archbishop Ireland would receive a red hat. Of official denial of this purpose or that any other American prelate in addition to those proclaimed would be elevated was authorized by the Vatican. The name, however, will not be revealed until a later consistory at the option of the Pope, and it is possible that this may not be until after the death of the reigning pontiff.

WITNESS UPHOLDS STORY OF KILLING

Bears Out Testimony of Mrs. Patterson, Who Slewed Her Husband.

Denver, Col., November 27.—The defense in the Patterson murder case to-day placed on the stand a witness to the shooting of Charles A. Patterson by his wife, Gertrude Gibson Patterson. He is Francis J. Easton, of Minneapolis.

Easton was in Denver the day of the shooting, he testified. He corroborated the story of Mrs. Patterson that she had shot her husband after he had struck her twice and knocked her down, and was standing over her with his arm raised to strike again. Easton said that he had gone to the sanatorium at which Patterson was a patient and had started for a walk in the neighborhood. Some distance from the sanatorium he observed a man and woman, apparently quarreling. When he was 300 feet from the pair he looked back and saw the woman reading a newspaper clipping, he said. She handed the clipping to the man and he struck her in the face. A second blow felled her. She struggled to one knee, he said, and fired twice. After a short pause, she fired two more shots, he said.

On cross-examination, Easton said he saw A. B. Shugart, the witness of the shooting, placed on the stand by the State, running to the spot, but did not go over to the body himself, because he did not want to get mixed in the affair.

Special Prosecutor Benson questioned the witness closely in regard to his life history, but failed to shake the witness' composure.

"Do you know Emil W. Strouss?" the prosecutor asked.
"I do not."
"Have you been back to the scene of the shooting for the purpose of testifying here?"
"I have."

Easton was the last witness for the defense, and the State began its testimony in rebuttal. Its first witness being Mrs. Mary K. Patterson, mother-in-law of the defendant.

The witness declared that her son was ill at her home at a time when the younger Mrs. Patterson had declared Patterson assaulted her. The son was so weak that he had to be lifted up in bed to be fed. He had been taken to a sanatorium on a stretcher. She contradicted the defendant on a number of other points.

When court adjourned to-day there was a prospect of the case going to the jury by to-morrow night.

GOTCH IS ANXIOUS TO MEET MUNROE

Englishman Is Offered Match, to Be Held in Kansas City in December.

Kansas City, Mo., November 27.—Frank Gotch has offered to meet Alec Munroe, the English wrestler, in Convention Hall, Kansas City, and the officials of the Missouri Athletic Club this afternoon cabled the Englishman an offer for a match on December 28, winner to receive 75 per cent. of the purse. Gotch, in a letter received to-day, offered to meet Munroe at any time before January 5, before he starts on his trip to Europe.

"I expect to leave America January 10," Gotch wrote. "I will insist that the winner receive 75 per cent. of the purse."
"If this match in arranged it will be my last championship bout for a year, and perhaps forever. I will engage only in exhibition matches while abroad."

Following the receipt of the letter, officials of the club cabled Munroe the offer, fixing the date for December 28. In a recent letter, Munroe wrote he would pay his own expenses, to come to America for a match with Gotch, and that the latter might name the terms.

MENTALLY UNFIT SHOULDN'T MARRY

Dr. Priddy Calls Attention of Legislature to Restrictive Needs.

EPILEPTIC COLONY REPORT

New Institution Has Hundred Patients—Needs More to Reduce Cost.

Anticipating a rapid increase in mental defectives and epileptics, out of proportion to the normal increment of population in Virginia, Dr. A. S. Priddy, superintendent of the new State Epileptic Colony near Lynchburg, called attention of the Legislature in his first annual report made public yesterday, to the consideration of the application of legalised eugenics for the prevention of this growing blight on the population. He suggests as a solution the restriction of the marriage of epileptics, the insane, the feeble-minded and confirmed alcoholics.

"The potent influence of heredity," says Dr. Priddy, "as the cause of insanity, feeble-mindedness, idiocy and other mental defects is shown sufficiently well to be convincing, by a study of the history of the inmates of our State institutions and county almshouses, without further proof being needed. Mendel, after long study and research on the subject of transmission of mental and nervous characteristics from parent to offspring, has evolved laws which apply with seeming precision to the conditions under which neurotic taints of parents are inherited by their offspring." He mentions how other specialists have made investigations which confirm the Mendelian theory. In view of these scientific revelations, he concludes, which are confirmed by every-day experience, institutions, he anticipates the accumulation by Virginia of a greater population of these defective and dependents than her resources will permit the comfortable care of. So that it will become an economic as well as humanitarian problem.

Work for Epileptics.

The State Epileptic Colony has accommodations for only 100 patients, that being the extent reached under the appropriation made by the last Legislature for the establishment of the institution. The first admissions were on May 16, 1910, when thirty patients were transferred there from the Southwestern Hospital at Marion. Thirty came from the Eastern Hospital at Williamsburg on May 19, while on May 23 there were forty from the Western at Staunton. Because there is only one patients' building, only males could be received. Up to the end of the fiscal year on September 30 had been received in all, of whom six were returned to the Eastern Hospital, one to the Southwestern, while five died—four of epilepsy and one by drowning—while at home on furlough.

For several years, at least, the population of the colony will for the most part consist of chronic insane epileptics taken from the State hospitals, the recovery of any of whom, or the improvement in any considerable number sufficient to permit them returning to their homes or going out into the world to care for themselves, would be events too remarkable to anticipate. Therefore but few discharges may be expected.

Are Kept at Work.

As far as possible, the patients are given employment, and are engaged on the farm or in improving the property.

The per capita cost is too high, because of the small number of patients. A certain organization is necessary, and could be used without additional expense if the capacity were trebled. As an economic proposition, therefore, it is urged that the Legislature appropriate funds for a building to take care of 100 women patients, and another to accommodate 100 more as an infirmary—fifty of each sex. This would take 200 men and women from the insane hospitals, and relieve their congestion, while reducing the per capita cost at the epileptic colony 20 per cent. or more.

In its report to the Governor, the special board of directors "acknowledges with pleasure the faithful and satisfactory services of the officers and employees of the institution, and thinks that we should say that whatever success has attended our work in building, organizing and operating it is justly to be attributed to the energy, resourcefulness and fidelity of the superintendent, Mr. S. P. Priddy."

Officers Are Praised.

Submitting the report of the Central State Hospital to the Governor, the board of directors says: "We take pleasure in indorsing the efficient administration of the affairs by the superintendent and his corps of assistants."

The report of Superintendent W. F. Drewry to the board was reviewed in the press some weeks since.

PIRATES BLOWN UP BY DYNAMITE

Flash of Flame, Puff of Smoke, and Crews Are Blotted Out.

New York, November 27.—How two boatloads of pirates were swept from the ocean and their craft wrecked on a rocky shore, and how a case of dynamite over which they were fighting exploded, was told in a wireless dispatch received late last night at the Herald wireless station. The message was from the Prinz Joachim, of the Hamburg-American line, now stranded off the Bahamas.

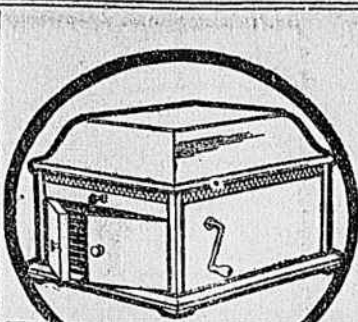

Wreckers and divers were at work about the Prinz Joachim yesterday afternoon, while off at a distance hovered the boats of the beach combers and lawless characters that haunt the Bahama Islands.

Among the boxes tossed overboard was one which contained a huge quantity of the explosive.

Fight for the Prize.

The pirates in three boats all saw the box at about the same time. They raced for the prize; two boats reached it first.

ing it almost simultaneously. Over edge of their crafts two crews fought for the box. Back and forth they swayed in their struggle, which was watched by those on the Prinz Joachim.

Then there came a flash of flame and a puff of smoke that blotted out from the view of the men on board the steamship all sight of pirates and their craft. A moment later there came over the wave the boom of the explosion.

In the air above the cloud of smoke the men on board the stranded vessel saw flying pieces of timbers, parts of bodies and all that a moment before had gone to make up the two boatloads of pirates. Then the flying objects dropped back into the sea, the white cloud of smoke drifted away and nothing was left on the surface of the water where the two boats had been.

Complete Annihilation.

The pirates in the boat had escaped death. After the explosion they were seen rowing madly for the shore; and on reaching the land they raced into the woods and disappeared.

From the Prinz Joachim a lifeboat was lowered immediately and a surgeon was sent to the spot where the explosion occurred. Except for a few splintered pieces of wreckage, nothing remained to show that two boatloads of men had been there a few minutes before.

According to persons on board the stranded vessel, there were several men in each boat. The pirates had never gone close to the Prinz Joachim for fear of being fired upon by a revenue cutter that occasionally would drive them backward toward the shore.

air as the graceful white flier entered the range of vision and continued until it had crossed the finish line without mishap, and with a record for the last lap that made it impossible for the pursuer, Mercedes to beat. Though defeated, De Palma was game to the end, and he also was wildly cheered as he finished two minutes and eleven seconds behind the winner.

The average speed of the winner was 74.07 miles an hour. His time for the 202 miles against Herrick's record was 4.90. Herrick's record was 74.63. The record for a former Vanderbilt race was 65.08 miles an hour, held by Harry Grant, winner of the 1909 and 1910 races, who finished fourth to-day. No new world's record was hung up to-day except that for 202 miles, as Nazario averaged 74.15 miles for 528 kilometres in the race for the Florida cup in France in 1908.

Hugh Hughes, driving a Mercer, broke the former Vanderbilt record to-day in winning the Savannah challenge trophy light car race, traveling a distance of 222.82 miles at an average speed of 65.4. Seven cars participated in this event, which was run simultaneously with the Tidewater trophy contest for light cars previous to the Vanderbilt race.

Frank Witt drove an E. M. F. to victory in the Tidewater at an average speed of 58.34 for the 171.40 miles. E. M. F. cars also won second and third places in this race.

Mortimer Roberts was leading by ten minutes in an Ebbott-Detroit when a broken crank shaft put him out after he had gone 100 miles.

Interest now turns to the grand prize race to be run on Thanksgiving Day. This contest will be longer by seven laps than to-day's contest.

RESCUED SAILORS ARE PUT ASHORE

Forty-Four Members of Prinz Joachim's Crew Carried to Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, November 27.—Forty-four sailors from the stranded steamer Joachim, which went ashore last Wednesday at Atwood Key, were brought here to-day by the steamer Admiral Schley. The sailors were rescued in lifeboats at sea after having abandoned the Prinz Joachim.

The Admiral Schley also picked up a wireless message which declared two boats loaded with sailors from the Prinz Joachim had landed in Cuba. A fifth lifeboat from the Joachim was seen by the Admiral Schley, but there was no one in it.
